

The Horn of Plenty is Pouring Forth Our Blessings

Native Nurturing Overnight November 8 & 9

Beginning at 3 pm on Saturday November 8, 2008 Native Nurturing will host its fall overnight weekend retreat for young people and their parents. It will end on Sunday following a young people's Sweat Lodge and Feast. Everyone will sleep in the Peace Sound Chamber.

The Center for Peace grounds are beautiful and the land speaks to our hearts. For many years now teachings regarding how to honor our Mother Earth have been offered on this land.

Be sure to bring:

- *bedding to sleep in the sound chamber.
- *loose clothes for the sweat lodge (skirts or dresses for girls and women; swimsuit or shorts for boys and men)
- *a change of clothes for after the sweat lodge
- * a flashlight
- * something to share for the feast on Sunday
- *an item for the Give Away blanket (can be something your child is ready to share or "give away" or it can be something brought to share that a young person might like)

This weekend workshop is created to offer our children teachings based on native tradition blessed and given to us by Joseph Rael, Beautiful Painted Arrow. These teachings will focus on Drumming, Sacred Fire, Chanting, Dancing, and Story Telling.

All participants will make a banner on which is placed one's prayer for the next year. (Materials provided.)

The Long Dance December 6 & 7

LONG DANCE 2008

Sixteen years ago (1993) on the first weekend in December, nineteen dancers, three drummers and one chief, Joseph Rael, Beautiful Painted Arrow, gathered at the Center for Peace to do the first Long Dance here.

It had rained seven inches in 24 hours and a very brisk wind was blowing, but this courageous group of people braved all of that to dance in ankle deep mud in the meadow. One of the neighbors complained of our nighttime drumming by beating on her propane tank with a hammer. In the name of "good neighborliness", and the safety of all, the drum was silenced and the dancers danced to the "silent drummer within" while the drummers and chief kept silent watch, even as the rain came again and the canopy shelter for the drummers blew away in the wind.

The following year Joseph asked that we move to higher ground, so we danced on the leveled clearing where the Peace-Sound Chamber would be built. For the next few years we danced in the ever changing construction of the chamber. When the chamber was finally all enclosed and a wood burning heater installed, Joseph declared that from now on this would be where we would dance this Long Dance---and so it has been, every year for the past twelve years.

After Joseph retired from leading dances in 1997, the Center for Peace Council appointed Brenda Sue Whitmire Taylor and Perry Robinson to be co-chiefs of this dance. At the end of the dance in 2000, Brenda Sue announced that she was retiring as co-chief and asked Jeanne Robinson to step in as co-chief with Perry. This will be their 8th year as co-chiefs.

This year, 2008, will complete sixteen rounds on the medicine wheel, four rounds each in each of the four directions. The Long Dance is a very personal dance, where each dancer works on their own "issues" and visions. What has held you back in your walk in this life, what have you overcome in your journey,

A COURSE IN MIRACLES

Mondays at 7pm

By Perry Robinson

In 1985 I used the "Workbook for Students", volume II of A COURSE IN MIRACLES, as a tool to break out of a rut. For a few years I had gotten stuck in transition out of organized religion into what Spirit had waiting for me to do. It worked so well for me that, when we founded the Center for Peace, I taught ACIM for about 15 years.

For those who want a book for self-healing purposes, I strongly recommend it. We recently started a class on ACIM at the Center every Monday evening 7 to 8:30 pm. In September, when those who were teaching it could no longer do so, I assumed the leadership of the class. This class is open to all who wish to participate and is on a donation basis.

Come check it out! Call or write for further information: 865 428-3070, perry@centerforpeace.us .

Long Dance

Numerous dancers have danced through the night in first the sun-wise circle of the dance's beginning, followed by the moon-wise circle which often brings insight and vision. One dancer, Carol Bell, who now lives in Baton Rouge, has danced every Long Dance, even when she could not be physically present. She has made her banner and her donation each year, and has shared the insights that she received. Many others have also danced numerous times and some have only danced once. No matter the number of times, each dance is important in the way that it has changed that individual and thus the world.

This year the chiefs, with the Council's approval, have decided to suspend the usual donation of $150 in favor of asking that each individual donate whatever amount feels right to them--either in the form of money, services, or goods. We invite you to join us in this last dance of the year here at the Center for Peace the weekend of December 6-7.

Email, call or write if you have any questions about the dance. See Dance Information article for what to bring, times, etc. We look forward to seeing you at the dance!

Jeanne and Perry Robinson, co-chiefs.

Questions and inquiries may be sent to Perry@centerforpeace.us or Jeanne@centerforpeace.us . You may go online to our website, shown on front of newsletter, to register for this dance.

Dance Information for the LONG DANCE 2008

Each dancer will need to wear layered clothing because even though the dance is held in the Chamber, the temperature can vary. We will have a fire in the wood heater if needed, and sometimes the chamber doors may be open for ventilation. Please read the following list even if you have danced before, as some things have been added.

1- Please bring the following items: A cloth banner, any color, 2' X 4', decorated in any manner of your choice that will depict where you have come from (spiritually), where you are now and where you would like to be (your goal for this dance) OR depicting what you desire to bring into your life through this dance (your vision of your future, as you are currently working on it).

2- Breakfast type food for the feast on Sunday morning. Things like sweet rolls or bread, fruit, juice, or prepared casserole (nothing that will take a lot of preparation on the kitchen staff's part) or other appropriate items. (We are usually overwhelmed with bread items)

3- Item for the giveaway following the feast---traditionally this is something that has meaning for you personally or it may be an item that is no longer useful to you but will be useful for someone else. No wrapping please.

4- If you so choose: items of thanksgiving for the fire keeper(s) of the sweat lodge and the dance and the same for the drummers. These may be small items such as tobacco, candles, or other items of your choosing. If you wish, you may also gift the chiefs and other dancers.

5- A FLASHLIGHT

6- A bedroll for resting following the dance (that will end sometime in the wee hours of the morning) and before the feast. Most dancers will sleep in the chamber following the dance or at the house, if there is room on the floor. Please plan on staying on the Center property until the feast and giveaway is over.

7- Sweat clothes and towels for the lodge prior to the dance, in addition to your clothes for dancing. You may want to bring a change of comfortable shoes to change into at some point during the dance.

8- A pillar type candle, unscented, 3"x 4" or 3"x 6". We will not be using the chamber oil lamps this year. Good quality candles that don't drip are appreciated.

Please keep amount of items that you plan to take into the chamber at the time of the dance to a minimum---preferably whatever will fit into a tote bag that will fit under your chair. Chair will be provided unless you absolutely have to have a special chair. Space will be limited in the chamber during dance time, so all bedroll items must be left in your car until after the dance.

Cars will be parked in the meadow prior to the dance. No cars at the chamber with the exception of the vehicle carrying the drum, vehicles for the handicapped (if any) and the chiefs' car.

Book Review

My Stroke of Insight

A Brain Surgeon's Personal Journey
by Jill Bolte Taylor

This very interesting book written by a brain researcher catalogs the experience of having a stroke from the inside out. The 37 year old doctor, had a malformation of veins in the left hemisphere of her brain which began to bleed one morning.

The first symptoms were headache and increased sensitivity to bodily stimuli such as the water of her morning shower. As time passed and more of the left hemisphere became blood soaked the stroke symptoms increased as her right arm and leg became unresponsive.

The left hemisphere controls language and logic, so even though she knew what was happening to her body, she had little means of reaching someone outside of her apartment. Even to dial 911, she was unable to speak to communicate. It became a race for her to realize her dilemma and formulate a plan to be rescued, all the while being totally in her right hemisphere.

She writes "To the right mind, no time exists other than the present moment and each moment is vibrant with sensation....The experience of joy happens in the present moment....Our perception and experience of connection with something that is greater than ourselves occurs in the present moment." In her right brained consciousness, she was without boundaries, totally connected to everything that is and experiencing each moment in joy, in the fluidity of being inseparable from the rest of creation. "Although I rejoiced in my perception of connection to All That Is (emphasis mine), I shuddered at the awareness that I was no longer a normal human being."

As I read her difficulty in pulling herself from that place of oneness back to the reality that her brain was dying, I was struck by how much of the explanation of right brained perception parallels what is experienced while in an altered visionary state. Our brains are hard wired for ecstasy! We only need to switch off the left brain for a while to get there.

The latter portion of the book covers her recovery which took eight years. And has in it a manifesto of human needs that all patients need to get well, but especially those who have had brain injuries. Very important for health care providers to read and understand how our actions impact those who cannot comprehend language. A fascinating book.

Native Nurturing Overnight

There will be food supplied for Saturday's evening meal and for breakfast on Sunday.

If you child has a drum or a special story to tell, please bring them along.

As we face turmoil in our news, we can remember that out of Chaos comes Truth and Awareness. It will be the young people who will be leading us and helping them express their true visions is one of the many things we can do. This is not to mention how much fun it is. I've met some amazing story tellers during these weekends and their dreams become my dreams. I dream of a future of peace and the honoring of our Mother Earth and our children. Then we will be carried forward. Please consider bringing your children to this event. I look forward to seeing you there.

The Center for Peace is an international community focused on ancient wisdom traditions applied in the modern world.

We are located on sixteen acres in Seymour, TN, in the foothills of the Smoky Mountains. Our facilities include a Peace Sound Chamber (a building used for chanting, ceremonies, and vision quests), a sweat lodge, a medicine wheel, dance arbor, open meadow, some peaceful woods and a gift shop.

Holiday Events

December 24: 7 pm – Christmas Eve Candle Lighting Ceremony. We gather as a spiritual family, sing our favorite Christmas songs, and light our candle. It is our way of celebrating our part of the flow of Love, Wisdom, Grace, and Power, which the holidays signify. Vicki Jones and Nan City will lead the singing.

Please bring a favorite "finger food" or beverage to share afterward.

Also, please bring a gift, which has not been wrapped, for the give-away blanket. We do not wrap the gifts; because each person will be asked to take the gift from the blanket, which especially attracts his/her attention.

January 1, 10 am – Annual New Year's Day Sweat Lodge. Let's make the most of a new beginning on the first day of an "eleven year". Please bring towels, a change of clothing, and food to share.

In addition to bringing food for the feast afterward, please also bring something for a Give-Away after the lodge. [Idea: sometimes we know immediately that a wonderful gift we received during the holidays is really for someone else – sometimes we even know to whom it really belongs. This is a good time to help these gifts find their rightful owners. Great and useful gifts are even more so, when they find the person who will appreciate and use them the most!]

Perry's Ponderings

"OK, What Next?"

By Perry Robinson

By the time you read this the national election, probably, will be history. As I am writing this, a vibrancy of expectation and edginess about the election and about the future in general fills the air.

At the same time I am being daily reminded about the "marching orders", issued to me on the spirit plane back at the very beginning of this leg of my spiritual journey [1986]: "do not look for any ultimate answers in either politics or religion".

What this says to me is: no matter what the outcome of the national election is, a vast number of challenges will still face us all; and my job has not changed. I am to focus on keeping alive the hope and possibility of true change in human consciousness.

At the heart of Jesus' teaching is a simple truth, the meaning of which the "evangelists" shroud in such fervent religious language that, when we hear it coming – for we have heard it "way too many times" --, we don't want to hear it! So, instead of putting you off by quoting it, I'll just try to say what it means.

"When you look around you, you see brokenness, anger, lack, and every form of separation; and you despair. Change your minds and look again! Everything you see is a part of God's creation and, thus, of Its gift to you; all of it is the 'kingdom' of God."

How is this very different from what Sai Baba is saying, when he says, "Love what is in front of you."? Or from the vision Spirit gave to me in Israel, 2004, showing that this world is the Garden of Eden, which is still our birthright, providing us everything that we need for life and that the Tree of Life was still waiting for us to take its fruit and eat? I think, very little.

There is nothing new about any of this; yet, how seldom does this truth make it through the crap, with which our minds are cluttered. How often are our eyes blinded to the gifts being offered in life circumstances?

Four years ago, when I was driving our loaded van with Jeanne and Ula Rae Mynatt on the beginning of our journey to Colorado, it did not look like a good thing that I lost control of the van, spun it completely around and rolled it completely over. Yet we quickly discovered the hand of Grace within it. We three were kept amazingly safe. While the van was "totaled", other losses of property were minuscule. We were spared a long journey, which would not have accomplished the purposes for which it was initiated. We were spared from camping in a tent for a month in a place, where hanta virus had – just at that moment – been detected. Additionally, we were offered a valuable lesson about paying attention to all signals that show up; and we experienced the miracle of safety in a shattering moment!

I have hardly missed the van in all my gratitude!

I'll bet most of you could write your own stories of similar experiences. I think it is important, especially at this time, to look at these experiences and take the teaching, which arises through them, to heart. I know that many of you are going through times in which parts of your life seem to be "spinning out of control". Financial setbacks, medical/physical challenges, relationships breaking down, depressing environmental situations, and all kinds of stuff loom so big before us that we lose heart. On top of that the economic situation in the whole world seems to be "going to hell in a hand basket". People's life savings disappear, jobs are lost; and many are facing bankruptcy and homelessness.

It looks as if the whole human race at one time is facing what many of our ceremonial dancers face on the second afternoon of a three or four day dance, when the aches and pains of bodily detoxification [from the food and water fast] are so overwhelming as to make it almost impossible to move! Yet dancers know that, somehow, we keep moving; and we do survive.

Here are some of my thoughts for this time:

1. Let us simplify our lives as much as possible. I distinctly remember my parents telling me that they hardly knew that there had been a "great depression". We had always survived on a very small income; we raised most of our own food; my father hunted and fished for more food; we did not have electricity; we were loved, healthy, and happy. Use resources sparingly without being stingy.

2. Trust; do not panic. No one truly dies. Usually, when we lay our bodies down, it is because on some level we "give up" or "give in" to what seems to be going on. Water is just water, the source of life. In high water most people will float; but even those with negative buoyancy can keep their faces out of the water by calmly moving! Panic is the cause of most drowning.

3. Communicate; keep in touch with your people. How many of us have had shamanic training? Pay attention, when someone comes strongly into your mind.

4. Notice what you know. For years we have fluctuated between deep spiritual searching and being sort of "workshop junkies". We have learned a whole lot of useful stuff. Maybe we are going to get to use all of it on a regular basis for a while!

5. The world did not cease to be the Garden of Eden, when the economy went sour. Mainly, what went sour was the investors' market! Commerce will continue, because people will not stop living; and people will need to buy and sell. Commerce may become based on meeting real needs for a change!

6. We have seen it so many times that it is "old hat": when times get tough people pull together.

7. If foundations break up and long-standing structures tumble, we can stand around whining or we can turn the rubble into building blocks for a new future. It is a choice we make individually – no matter who is president!

8. The "keys of the kingdom" are still offered, dangling in front of us, waiting for us to reach out and accept them and live.

9. We can do this!

Let our Thanksgiving be very real this year and our Holidays be very blessed!

Core Activities

Sweat Lodges

— See calendar for dates of Thursday and Saturday sweat lodges.

A sweat lodge, or a stone people's lodge, can be an intensely rewarding experience. By entering the mother's womb (the lodge) we seek purification and a deeper spiritual awareness through prayer. The steam, heat, and darkness help hold our prayers and add to our personal introspection. The pourer (leader of the lodge), with help from the fire tender, strives to hold a place of safety and security while setting the intent of the lodge. The medicine of the pourer and of each participant helps to enrich the lessons of the lodge.

Times for Saturday sweats reflect the approximate time the fire will be started. Times for Thursday sweats reflect the approximate earliest time participants will enter the lodge. We suggest participants arrive early to gain the full benefit.

Bring two towels, modest clothes for the sweat (clothes you don't mind getting dirty), change of clothes (for afterwards), food (for the feast), and a flashlight (for evening sweats). Gifting the Center, the lodge, the fire tender, and/or the leader is appropriate but not required.

December 14 4pm, - visitors welcome

For more information, call the Center at (865) 428-3070.

Alliance for Spiritual Ecology

— See calendar for dates

The Alliance for Spiritual Ecology is an alliance among humans and between the human and elemental kingdoms.

Peter Calhoun describes in Soul on Fire how simple ceremonies by only a few people, can accomplish the seemingly impossible.

The purpose of this Alliance is to begin locally and expand to a world-wide group of people dedicated to protect both the sacred sites of Earth and environmentally sensitive areas

The Alliance is also established to heal areas that have been abused and brought into unbalance; and areas stricken by drought and excessive rainfall.

Drumming Circle

— Every Friday.

7 pm

Drumming is a powerful, sometimes dramatic, way to break into other levels of our mind. Sensitive instruments can measure the way that drumming affects the brain waves. That's the reason for tens of thousands of years the shaman has journeyed with the drum.

This drumming is not specifically for journeying; but you get to use it whatever way you wish – including having a good time doing it!

So, on Friday of each week, bring your drum, and come join us.

Work is Worship

Call for dates in November and December- Lunch provided.

Chanting in the Chamber

The Peace Sound Chamber is available for chanting, vision quests, ceremonies of all types.

You are encouraged to come to the chamber and chant, drum, meditate or simply sit (the chamber Spirits love it); please check first that there is not something already scheduled.

Fire Ceremony

— 7th of each month, 7 pm

This ceremony came from a vision Joseph Rael had in 1984. Its purpose is to heal and purify both the planet's physical oceans and the oceans of cosmic thought. Through healing our own confusion, Joseph was told by Oceanus (creator spirit of the ocean), we can heal the confusion of the physical world.

At 7 pm local time, fire elders light ceremonial fires at each of the Peace Sound Chambers around the world. Those present watch the fire in silence until it burns out, giving to it what we want to transmute in our lives and staying open to the messages and teachings it brings. All are welcome. We suggest you arrive around 6:45 pm.
